ABOUT ME

Computer Science graduate passionate about modeling and optimizing complex systems in the renewable energy sector.

Completed an Erasmus year in Sweden, broadening both academic and cultural horizons through international study and collaboration.

Experienced in full-stack development across frontend and backend technologies, as well as developing AI agents focused on retrieving and processing domain-specific information from complex knowledge bases.

A proactive and self-driven learner, continuously seeking to deepen technical expertise and apply analytical thinking to real-world challenges.

PROJECTS

scan2pay – EPC-QR-Code Generator

- Developed a web application that generates EPC-QR codes (European Payments Council standard) to facilitate instant bank transfers
- Goal is to streamline peer-to-peer payments by enabling direct bank-to-bank transactions, eliminating reliance on third-party processors like PayPal
- Focus on data privacy and user independence (self-hostable without any user tracking)
- Built using go and htmx
- Deployed on my Raspberry Pi using Docker
- Live demo
